General
educational skills

- listening attentively to a story and to each other while performing a role-play
- co-operating and working together in preparing a role-play and in a role-play
- appreciating children's literature in English

EVALUATION

Ls evaluate their peers' performances in groups by recording their opinion in a chart and giving feedback in simple sentences.

For assessing and checking tasks or homework tasks before or during the lesson T can ask the Ls to help and check others' work.

SUGGESTIONS

In shared story telling Ls follow T's story telling and gradually join in with more and more verbal and non-verbal reactions. For this, it is important for T to explicitly express and identify with voice and gestures where and how to join in.

Put the story pictures on the classroom wall and provide enough space for gradually extending it with new parts and some speech bubbles.

Many of the activities in this module provide opportunities for Ls to express themselves either verbally or non-verbally. T should make sure that both types of response are acceptable.

When checking homework tasks is not an integral part of the lesson, then we suggest T should collect some exercise books or worksheet and check them before the lesson. Some enthusiastic Ls can help and take the T's role and check others' homework tasks. This could gradually become a classroom routine by giving more responsibility for Ls. (e.g. Lesson 2)
