1.2 CHEATS READING TEXT

CHEATS

■ Cheating is wrong! But, teenagers sometimes cheat to get better marks. We asked some teens from around the world “How do you cheat?” This is what they said.

How do I cheat? My friend Melanie and me are in the same maths class, and we have a “Homework Deal”. She does the odd questions like 1, 3, 5 and I do the evens like 2, 4, 6 and we swap answers on the bus the next day.
(Ave, aged 12, New Zealand.)

One kid I know, pays his sister’s best friend to do his homework. That’s a “Homework Deal” and that’s cheating isn’t it? (Daniel, aged 13, Canada.)

I use “Cheat Sheets” sometimes – I write information on paper and put it under my watch strap. My brother uses gum paper for cheating – he writes stuff on the paper and in the test, he chews gum and then reads the paper. The teachers never know. I heard that someone in our school used a baseball hat for cheating - he glued a cheat sheet to the bill (the front) of the hat. How cool is this! But, he glued it upside down so he couldn’t read it! What a dork!
(Damien, aged 14, USA.)

I know about “Mobile Cheating” – you use it for texting questions to your friends and they text the answers back. I’ve heard some kids use it for sending themselves text messages with important information. Awesome idea isn’t it?
(Brad, aged 17, the USA.)

How about this for an idea? It’s the coolest of cool! You can use a bottle of Fanta for cheating. Take off the label and stick a cheat sheet on the outside of the bottle then glue the label back. When you drink the Fanta, you can see the answers. Cool or what! (Cameron, aged 13, South Africa.)

Well...we use the “Buddy System” a lot at our school. It’s like... when I sit next to my mate in history tests and we tell each other the answers. We have this old history teacher and she never knows we cheat – we show or whisper the answers or pass notes, or even use hand signs sometimes. We do this a lot. Cheating’s bad I know but we all do it! My dad did it when he was at school too! (John, aged 14, UK.)

Word Box

awesome	=	fantastic
cool	=	very good
dork	=	idiot
a kid	=	a child
a label	=	címke
mate	=	friend
stuff	=	information
upside down	=	fejfel lefele
watch strap	=	óraszíj
wicked	=	fantastic
whisper	=	súgni

How do I cheat? Cool question! We all do the “Long-sleeved” method. Before a test, we write important stuff on our arms, then wear a long-sleeved shirt. Then when the teacher isn't looking, we read our arms.
(Gerry, aged 12, Ireland)

1.2 SPIES READING TEXT

SPIES

■ We visited the international Spy Museum in Washington DC and asked some teens “What’s the best thing here?” This is what they told us.

I think.. I liked the spy animals the best. Like...did you know, that we used pigeons for sending secret messages for hundreds of years, (before e-mail)? And, in the First World War an American pigeon got a medal for carrying messages. How cool is that!
(Holly, aged 14 Washington DC)

I liked the spy animals. Did you know, the USA made a robot fish for sending secret messages through the water? This is a wicked idea!
(Emma, aged 14, Washington DC)

There was this wicked coat. It was a big winter coat and the fifth button was a camera button – you can use it for taking photos. I think the Russians invented it.
(Howard, aged 13 New York)

What’s the best thing here? The Lipstick Pistol. The Russian spies used it for painting their lips and for killing people too. How cool is that! I want one for Christmas!
(Lorna, aged 12 Washington DC)

I liked this recording pen. It’s a normal pen but you can use it for recording things and then listening to them. It’s like a pen dictaphone or something like that. I can use it for cheating in tests....or..maybe not.
(Adam aged 15, Washington DC)

I liked the walkie-talkie watches the best! You use them for sending and getting secret messages. You whisper into the watch and your mate listens from her watch. Everyone thinks you’re looking at the time but really you’re sending secret messages.
Wicked idea! Can I buy one?
(J-Jay aged 12, Chicago)

I saw this awesome magic spy pen. It’s just a normal pen but you can use it for invisible writing on paper, wood, glass, clothes. When you shine a UV light on your writing, then you can see it - the pen’s got a small UV light on it. I think I can use it for cheating at school. What do you think?
(Angelina, aged 16, New York.)

wicked	= fantastic
whisper	= súgni

What’s the best thing here? Spy sunglasses. They’re just normal sunglasses but you use them for seeing behind you – you look through them and can see behind you. Good for cheating in tests at school.. .but we can’t wear sunglasses in class. How unfair is that!
(Jordan, aged 13, New York)

TEENSPEAK

Gabi Hi there!

Stacy & Ruby Hi!

Gabi Our Hungarian teenagers want to know some teenage slang.
Can we talk about this?

Stacy & Ruby Sure! Yeah!

Gabi What is “Teenage slang” exactly?

Stacy Well...it’s like... a teenage language that adults can’t really understand.
It’s kinda like a secret language.

Ruby (interrupts)..... Yeah...but not really a language just words and phrasesbut yeah
...adults can’t understand it.

Gabi Like..what?

Stacy Well...I..er..I wrote a Teenspeak rap. Do you want to hear it?

Gabi Sure, yeah!

Stacy It’s heavy and cool and wicked, mint, phat.
But when my mum says “phat” - How naff is that! I say “Talk to the hand 'cos the face is in Spain”
Just don’t say “phat” to me again!

Gabi Great but...what does it mean?

Stacy Well...like... I don’t like my mum speaking slang ‘cos she’s too old!

Gabi And what’s phat?

Ruby Phat and cool mean “Great!” for people .like...“Brad Pitt ‘s cool”.
And heavy, mint, wicked and cool mean “Great!” but for things.... like... “a mint car”.

Stacy interrupts..... Yeah..and naff means “No good!”

Gabi And..what does “Talk to the hand 'cos the face is in Spain” mean?

Stacy Oh, “Say what you like mum, I’m not listening to you!”

Gabi Oh... Right. But I still don’t really understand it!

Ruby ...never mind, you’re not a teenager! Here’s another one. Ready Stace?

Stacy Yeah!

Ruby OK! “That new boy Spencer’s proper fit!

Stacy A proper dork you mean!! He had a fight on his first day at school!
What a loser!

Ruby Yeah.. but.....David Sherwin started itit wasn’t Spencer.
Really..it wasn’t him.

Stacy Yeah, right, whatever!”

Gabi What does fit mean?

Stacy “Good looking and sexy”

Gabi And dork?

Ruby “Stupid”.. and loser means stupid too.

Gabi Right.

Stacy ...but you know slang is always changing so don’t worry about it.
Chill out!

Gabi Sorry? .

Ruby Chill out! It means relax! Do you know any Hungarian slang?

Gabi Sure! “Király” means cool!

Ruby (mispronounces it) Kiwi..what??

Gabi Király

Ruby Király. Cool! Thanks

Gabi That’s OK. Thanks a lot for your time.

Stacy & Ruby Cheers!

 Jo Relax. "I like chilling out at the weekend".

A: Clean your bedroom room NOW!

B: OK, Mum. OK. I'll do it later. It's not dirty. Chill out!

A: What do you think of David Beckham?

B: Proper fit for an old man like him. How old is Beckham now?

A: You can have 4000 forints a month pocket money and no more.

B: Get real mum! That's so unfair! All my friends get 6000 forints.

A: See that car! It's wicked! I want to buy it!

B: Oh mum! It's a Skoda! Skodas are so naff. Buy a BMW. That's a mint car. And don't use slang – you're too old.

A: You stupid, stupid dork! You've put a virus on my computer! Oh why is my brother so stupid?

B: Oh...talk to the hand. It's your computer, your virus! Sisters! I hate them!

A: Don't wear jeans Timi. Wear a dress – it's much nicer. Be a lady! Ladies wear dresses!

B: Yeah, right, mum whatever. I look fine in jeans.

A: Here's the Harry Potter and the Half Blood Prince. You want to borrow it, yeah?

B: Oh, yeah! Cool! I'll read it this weekend. Cheers!
